

The Temple Judea Museum What's in Your Attic? Auction Project

Dear friend of TJMuseum,

If you are like many of us, your closets, basement and attic probably contain treasures you have accumulated over the years but no longer have need for. Your beautiful paintings and prints, furniture, antiques, china and silver, unique craft objects, rare books, coins and more, may all have once been used and proudly displayed but now just take up space.

The question is, What To Do With It All?

The answer is, Donate it to the Temple Judea Museum.

Why does the museum want these fine but no longer needed objects?
The museum will take them to auction and apply all realized profits from the sales to help with its operating budget. The museum receives very little funding from Keneseth Israel, therefore an innovative approach to fundraising has become imperative to our survival.

How does it all work? We will evaluate your possible donations of objects and place those accepted into our program with the appropriate auction house. We will arrange for the transport of the objects to the auction house.

Is your donation of actual goods to the museum tax deductible? The museum will provide donors with a letter of acknowledgement of each gift. All gifts are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.

What next? If you would like more information please contact us:
(215) 887-2027, TJMuseum@kenesethisrael.org

IMPORTANT: No Judaica will be accepted for auction as this would potentially conflict with the museum's mission to collect Judaica. TJMuseum is actively engaged in an ongoing program to add fine Judaica to our permanent collection.

Thanks so much for your consideration of our What's In Your Attic?* Auction Project
